NEW PRESIDENT OF CUBA TAKES STEPS TO END REBELLION

Opposing Army and Navy Officers, Virtual Prisoners in Havana Hotel, Ordered to Come to Terms—United States Ambassador Left Without Service by Hotel Employees

(Copyright, 1933, by the Associated Press)
HAVANA, Sept. 11 (CP)—President Grau San Martin tonight told Colonel Horacio Ferrer that the army and navy officers in practical rebellion at the Hotel National must come to terms with the new Cuban Government within twenty-four or thirty-six hours.

Ferrer, Secretary of War and the Navy in the regime of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, ousted by a Radical junta of five which gave way to Grau San Martin, has acted as representative for the officers several times.

He formally presented a demand to the junta that it step down to make way for the return of De Cespedes last week. The junta refused to do so.

REFUSE TO YIELD
"I will not return to their posts nor be expected to in their former service," he said.

The officers, who were removed from their commission by last week's group which unseated De Cespedes, had established headquarters at the Hotel National, armed themselves and formed a press bureau of their own.

All the employees of the hotel walked out tonight, leaving the guests, including United States Ambassador Sumner Welles, and the officers without service. There was no announcement concerning the reason for the movement.

ISSUES STATEMENT
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull in a formal statement late today said the United States is prepared to welcome any Cuban Government representing the will of the people of the republic and capable of maintaining law and order throughout the Island."

ALL ADVOCATE CENTRAL BANK

Commission Has Crowded Day for Final Session in Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 11—Statements by four economists, protests from investment bankers against the charter of banks dealing in securities, finally, presentation of a bill of Toronto banks, were crowded into the Royal Commission on Banking's final day in Toronto.

Its work here concluded, Lord Macmillan and his colleagues left this evening for Ottawa. The commission will not resume public sittings there until Thursday morning. On that day, according to present plans, general managers of Canadian banks will appear to make statements on behalf of their institutions.

CENTRAL BANK FAVORED
Today advocacy of a central bank by Canadian business leaders. Three members of the faculty of Queen's University discussed the need for such an institution, and its relation to the future monetary policy of Canada. Previously Professor T. E. Gregory, of London (England) University, had advocated the creation of a national bank.

Representations on behalf of the Investment Bankers' Association of Canada were made by Ward Pittman. Later the Ontario banks, through the medium of J. P. Bell, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. T. Jaffray, Imperial Bank, heard from their brief stated that banks were more fully in the interests of agriculture, manufacturing and commerce in Ontario, while limits imposed on them by the Bank Act.

City's Business

"We are buying far more food now than they were doing time last year," declared the胚iments specializing in this commodity when questioned about the subject yesterday.

"It is that makes them buy more food," he said. "They are buying as much raw material as possible, but in addition they are purchasing probably more of what is prepared meat, because they like them and that they can afford them."

Cabinet Succeeds Military Junta in Cuba

OUT of the political turmoil in Cuba a new government, headed by Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, inset, has been established. This followed a few days of rule by a military junta of five which took control when Provisional President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, left, was ousted after twenty-eight days in office. Scenes of hilarity, similar to that shown at the top, occurred when the army, pictured in centre, seized power. The capitol building at Havana is shown below.

Stock Exchange President Sees Threat to Wall Street

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Richard Whitney, President of the New York Stock Exchange, today warned inclusion of a stock transfer and broker's tax in the city's proposed $40,000,000 revenue raising programme would drive business from Wall Street, but it was unofficially reported tonight the project would go through.

Whitney appeared before a crowded Board of Estimate meeting at City Hall and declared security markets would abandon the famed financial district, the Stock Exchange Building would stand empty, and thousands of clerks would be thrown out of work if the four bills involved in the tax programme were passed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (CP)—Henri Grechen, boxer who used to snip Mark Twain's locks while the author wrote in bed, one of the few men who know how Twain looked in a nightgown. He looked like a "ghost."

"I can't tell you," he said, "In his coat with nightgown and with that great head of white hair and his white moustache, he looked like a ghost. The only thing that spoiled the effect was he usually smoked a cigar."

FIND PAINTINGS BURIED IN HOLE

Paul Thouin, Arrested for Shooting Policeman, Confesses and Suicides

MONTREAL, Sept. 11 (CP)—Paul Thouin, noted desperado, found dead in his jail cell early today, minutes after he had buried his Canadian paintings, valued at $10,000, for the famous Van Horne collection of old masters, which cost Sir William Van Horne, former president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, more than $3,000,000 to assemble, was told today by Louis Jardelle, chief of the Quebec provincial police.

Representations on behalf of the Investment Bankers' Association of Canada were made by Ward Pittman. Later the Ontario banks, through the medium of J. P. Bell, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. T. Jaffray, Imperial Bank, heard from their brief stated that banks were more fully in the interests of agriculture, manufacturing and commerce in Ontario, while limits imposed on them by the Bank Act.

STOLE WRONG PICTURES

Kelowna, according to the chief detective's statement, intended to steal the Van Horne collection, but instead cut from their frames fifteen canvases which had been hung in the Montreal Art Association's studio next door.

The stolen paintings, for which a continent-wide search had been made since they were stolen from the Montreal Art Gallery last Spring, lay concealed for months in a hole dug in a hillside near L'Epiphane, Que., about sixty miles from here, according to police.

MAKES FAST TO DRIFTING DREDGE

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (CP)—The tug tug, which towed a drifting dredge, reported by wireless it had the long-way home, was towed away by a Government dredge Churchill, a one-ton, in tow again, ending a seven-hour period when the dredge was drifting free at the mercy of a North Atlantic gale, 225 miles north of Newfoundland.

The growers are doing this on their own initiative. A new language came into use in this peaceful valley. Strikes, boycotts and picketing were stopped at the end of last week. On Sunday they were openly mentioned, and today they were put into effect.

PLAN DRASTIC ACTION

In Kelowna, four shippers will refuse to sign the stabilization board agreement. The growers are determined that these four shall come into line, making the board responsible for 95 per cent strong.

If they refuse to join it, then I plan to darken their plants. Pickets will hold the entrance to the unloading platforms and refuse admission to any truck with fruit that has not been assured the minimum price of 40 cents a box.

LIBERAL TAKEN INTO CABINET UNDER TOLMIE UNIONIST PLAN

Ten Bulls Out To Prove Truth Of Old Simile

LISBON, Portugal, Sept. 11 (AP)—Ten bulls broke loose today in the annual Summer festival, injuring twenty persons, three of them probably fatally.

The bulls smashed articles in china shops, fancy stalls and cafes, and wrecked the bandstand. A barber killed one bull with a razor and the others were rounded up.

REMIER Tolmie added a Liberal to his Unionist Cabinet last evening in the person of William Savage, Vancouver barrister and former head of the British Columbia Prohibition Association, who was sworn in as Minister of Public Works before Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson at 6 o'clock.

Hon. R. H. Pooley, K.C., remains in the Cabinet as Attorney-General, relinquishing the Works portfolio provisionally held by himself.

The Premier last night repeated an appeal for a union political effort for the best interest of the province, and the question of leadership could remain open for decision after the election into which he will lead the Government forces in person.

BRITISH COLUMBIA CABINET

The Provincial Executive thus became a ministry of eight members, as follows:

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier and Minister of Railways and Agriculture.

Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, Minister of Mines and Fisheries.

Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance and Industries.

Hon. R. H. Pooley, K.C., Attorney-General.

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education and Lands.

Hon. W. M. Dennis, Minister of Labor.

Hon. William Savage Minister of Public Works.

Hon. John Macmillan, K.C., Minister without portfolio.

Hon. William Savage was born in Northamptonshire, England in 1876, and has been resident in British Columbia for forty-two years, it was announced. He homesteaded at Salmon Arm on a section of land for some time; attended Columbian College, Victoria, and was admitted as a member of the British Columbia Law Society, resident at Vancouver. He is a former president of the British Columbia prohibition forces. He has been a Liberal in politics without portfolio.

PLAN IS SUCCESSFUL

JAMES D. BARRETT, repairman, went out to make the breakdown on the line, and he found the crew of the Goodyear XI—just as Van Orman figured he would. Barrett was just in time. The balloonists, on their feet since their plane crashed down on the pine tree at 10,000 feet, had little food and little strength.

COVERED WITH SNOW

QUEBEC, Sept. 11 (CP)—The British Columbia Central Puget Sound and Hynek and Lieutenant Z. Bryzinski completed a flight of 812 miles from Chicago to make the Polish balloonists unofficial winners of the James Gordon Bennett Trophy balloon race, tonight lay concealed under a blanket of snow in Northern Quebec.

Unaided by the harrowing experiences he and his companion suffered when they came down a week ago in the Laurentian woods, Bryzinski returned to the North today, alone, in an effort to locate the gas bag. They came back tonight to say the North was covered with snow. Tomorrow he plans to go into the wilds again with P. Wardle, of Quebec, who took him up today, in the hope the snow will have melted.

Mrs. P. Smith and McGee Nominated

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP)—Mrs. Paul Smith, chairman of the Vancouver School Board, and G. C. McGee, K.C., were nominated to the Board of Education for the week-end.

Kenneth Chester, of New Westminster, was chosen vice-president, and W. Graham Gillam, of Cloverdale, secretary-treasurer and registrar.

ADJOURN TO SATURDAY

After the formal opening of the inquest, Coroner Hickling announced an adjournment and requested by Louis Poulin, on the grounds that his counsel, R. C. Lowe, of Victoria, was unable to attend. The coroner set the resumption of the inquest for Saturday, September 16 at 10 a.m.

The funeral of R. Douglas Syme was held this afternoon. Interment was in the local cemetery, and Rev. McDiarmid officiated.

ECONOMIST FINED FOR KISSING GIRL

Sir Leo Money Defendant in Epsom Police Court—Says He Will Appeal

EPSOM, England, Sept. 11 (AP)—Sir Leo Chiosso Money, fellow of the Royal Statistical Society, Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, eminent economist and former Member of Parliament, was fined £2 10s. ($11.75 Canadian funds) today for assaulting a young lady by kissing her.

Sir Leo said he would appeal.

The complainant, Miss Ivy Rutherford, testified that she was kissing him in a compartment of a Southern Railway car.

Sir Leo denied doing anything of the sort, averring he merely kissed Miss Rutherford's hand sympathetically after she had told him some of her troubles. Under cross-examination he admitted that twenty minutes after he had seen her for the first time in his life he was kissing her hands.

OTTAWA CONFERENCE AGREEMENT WORKING

Dealing generally with trade matters and the part economics has played in bringing together the numerous units of the Empire and the United Kingdom, Sir William Clark, Great Britain's High Commissioner to Canada, addressed the Men of Men's Canadian Club here yesterday.

Sir William, who has had long experience in Empire trade, and particularly as a member of the Empire Marketing Board, stressed the importance of the agreements made between the various Dominion members at the 1932 Ottawa conference. "The Ottawa agreements are working out very well, and Canada's exports to the United Kingdom have been very satisfactory, so far. You have been able to cash in on those agreements almost immediately, but with us it is taking longer to bring the people to maturity."

NATIONAL PROBLEMS

Sir William, who has been in Canada since his appointment by the British Government in 1928, referred briefly to some of the principal accomplishments that have taken place in this time, he said. When he came here, he said, problems were mainly political and constitutional, with economics in the background. Since the commencement of the depression, economics has taken a very prominent place in Canadian affairs.

The appointment of Sir William as High Commissioner to Canada was decided by the British Government, and was made for the purpose of establishing personal contact with trade commissioners and provide a channel of communication between the British Government and the Canadian Government in matters of trade. In this, Sir William has been wholly successful. He said he had been unable to recall an instance where an international trade problem had not been met with a measure of success.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

He made brief reference to the imperial economic Conference in London. In spite of the adjournment of the conference, Sir William said, the solidarity of the Empire representatives had not been impaired. The conference will further strengthen the Empire and strengthen into the complexities of international finance and exchange, but Empire relationship had progressed, although the full fruits of the results of the conference might not be realized for some little time yet.

Sir William mentioned that the present economic situation, the solution of which far outweighs any personal ambition or private consideration, I am prepared to agree to the leadership being determined by the newly elected members about the proposed solution. Government must be successful at the election.

LEADERSHIP OPEN

"On several occasions since then I have reiterated my position in this respect, and I do this once more. It will thus be seen that one year ago I took exactly the stand that Mr. Bowser and the Independents have now taken.

"In order to bring my plan of having a government composed of all the parties in the province who should be set aside for the present and all our energies concentrated for the best interests of the province" into effect, I intend to conduct the affairs of the province through the forthcoming election.

"When the official election is over I will invite all the elected members who are in favor of setting aside party politics (as I have been since 1922) to meet together in order to select a leader. If that leader should be other than myself, and has a desire to build up a coalition of all the parties to form a government, I will command him to the Lieutenant-Governor as the next Premier of British Columbia," the Premier's statement ended.

PREMIER'S STATEMENT

Premier Tolmie, who announced the Cabinet addition through his office shortly after the ceremony, issued the following statement over his own signature:

"In Mainland newspaper of September 7, I made the following statement, under the heading 'Bowser
Steps Down as Leader, to Unite
Non-Party Forces':

"Hon. W. J. Bowser announces today that he and his followers will henceforth cease to function as a non-party group, but will henceforth co-operate with the other adherents of the non-party movement in order to further their common aims for the welfare of the province. He has been assured by the Independent candidates not fully associated with him, and who now meet at the Hotel Victoria, that this action has paved the way for a consolidation of all forces opposed to party government. Mr. Bowser states that after the election, the Independent members, when in control of the House, will as matter of course be free to select their own leader."

SEPTEMBER AWOAL

"I am pleased to find that according to the above statement, Mr. Bowser and the Independents have arrived at the position I took up over a year ago. On September 7, 1932, I made the following statement:

"I am gratified that the trend of thought throughout the world today is that government should include those men who, regardless of other considerations, appear to be able to render the best service to the state. I have, after careful consideration and discussion with many responsible citizens of the province, decided to accept this principle."

APPEAL REPEATED

"For September 17, in another statement, I said:

"On my return from the East I found that a very strong sentiment has been developed here that party politics should be set aside for the present and all our energies concentrated for the best interests of the province. After many appeals from all parts of the province, and

GRANTS TO FAIRS

Speaking of grants to fairs,

Premier Tolmie said: "Criticism is often voiced regarding the amount of money spent at fairs, but, in the opinion of the premier, it is not merely a movement of money. In fact the money does not leave the district, but passes from one person to another in the same community. In my opinion there are no better expenditures made. In years gone by it has been necessary for the Department of Agriculture to grant grants to fair associations on liberal terms, but this has become impracticable under present economic conditions. It is pleasing to note, however, that the fair associations have been able to adjust themselves to the changed circumstances and to carry on their annual takings."

Premier Tolmie reviewed a number of the classes at the exhibition, referring particularly to livestock, sheep and swine, agriculture, horticulture, art and women's work.

He also gave a brief sketch of the methods of judging in various branches of exhibition.

In closing his remarks, the Premier said: "I desire to tender by hearty congratulations and to say that the thanks of the whole community are due to those committee members

Mr. Justice Martin, of the Appellate Court of British Columbia, was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Union Club last night given by the members of the Victoria Bar Association, as a tribute to the valuable contribution he has made to law in the Province and Dominion.

The Victoria Bar Association also had an opportunity to welcome to Victoria a noted British jurist in the person of Sir Adair Roche, of the King's Bench Division of the High Court of England, who is spending a few days in the Capital city, en route to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association at Ottawa.

FIRST ISLAND TRIAL

"The first trial before a constituted tribunal to be held on Vancouver Island was not organized under British rule," Mr. Justice Martin said, in responding to the compliment of the bar association.

Premier Tolmie presented the exhibition with a portrait of the late William Fraser Tolmie, first president of the Victoria Exhibition, in 1861, on behalf of the descendants of one of the city's earliest citizens. The gift was received by President W. H. Mearns.

Mr. Tolmie presided at the opening ceremony and introduced the speakers. Mayor Leeming expressed the wishes of the citizens for the success of the exhibition and also tendered congratulations to officers and members of the association.

Walter Leek, president of the Vancouver exhibition, accepted the gift on behalf of the association.

WORLD'S GREATEST COURT

This is the centenary year of the establishment of the Imperial Privy Council. It is fittingly made the subject of an article in The London Times and the author is Lord Macmillan who reminds his readers that this Court of Justice is the ultimate Court of Appeal for more than 400,000 subjects of the King. Despite the position it enjoys and the wide sphere of its influence Lord Macmillan sees it as a tribunal little known to the ordinary citizen. By that ordinary citizen his lordship is particularly referring to the people of Britain, and the reason for apparent lack of knowledge is due to the fact that the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council is almost entirely concerned with cases which originate outside the United Kingdom.

It was Lord Brougham who in 1833 initiated the Act "for the better administration of justice in His Majesty's Privy Council." Previous to that time appeals from the Empire overseas were referred to a committee of the whole Privy Council. The Brougham measure created the court as now known, in reality originated what has become a supreme court of law for the Empire. There is a quorum of three required to hear appeals. Those who are entitled to sit as Members of the Judicial Committee constitute a fairly long list, including present and past Lord Presidents of the Council, Lord Chancellors, all members of the Privy Council who hold or have held high judicial office in England, Scotland or Northern Ireland or in the Dominions, Privy Councilors who hold or have held the office of Chief Justice or Judge of any High Court in India and two specially qualified persons appointed by letters patent. There is a list of Dominion Judges and ex-Judges qualified to sit and the seven British Lords of Appeal in Ordinary are members of the Committee, and as a matter of fact the burden of the work falls on them. In commenting on the article written by Lord Macmillan on the Court and its functions The London Times says:

"It embraces in its activities an incredible domain. At the same time it maintains a serene and self-effacing aloofness that must be traced historically to the special connection of the Privy Council with the Royal source of its authority. It lacks, of course, the immemorial antiquity of the House of Lords, but as Lord Macmillan points out, there is not, neither has there ever been, any court in any country or Empire which in scope and range, and even in the variety of laws administered by it can compare with this the greatest court in the world. An injustice upon settlers in Arctic Canada, an abstruse conundrum from the intricacies of the age-old Institutes of Manu in Hindustan, from the debatable regions of Ceylon, or Arab law, or Bantu custom in Africa, or a difficulty from old French law in Quebec or Mauritius, or arising out of hoary maxims of Roman-Dutch law in South Africa—all may come to this oracle for authoritative interpretation or decision. With these may also come high constitutional or territorial issues for its impartial determination. Its sphere is not even limited in theory or practice to the human world; the gods, in the shape of a Hindu idol or a sacred monkey also ask here for justice and oblige it. What is this random selection brings home in a year an extraordinary square which the court has made in the annals of the modern Empire."

IDOLS OF THE THEATRE

Contrary to the opinion of some young ladies, the phrase "idols of the theatre" was not originally intended to apply to moving picture celebrities. Popular actors are indeed spoken of as matinees idols, but the great philosopher who invented the term was not thinking of actors, but of certain logical fallacies, namely, those errors which are due to mental indolence. This native inertia predisposes mankind to acquiesce in the popular fictions of the day, here typified by the theatrical shows and representatives which successively occupy the stage. Among these fallacies or idols a considerable number are to be found in educational theory, a circumstance which is not surprising in view of the widespread interest aroused by the modern psychologists as well as by the less dependable but none the less dogmatic pseudo-scientific amateurs and dabblers in that branch of study.

A few of these educational "idols of the theatre" may be mentioned. They will be recognized readily enough in such expressions as the self-development theory of education, pupils' self-government, the individuality of the child, and his right to self-expression, the repressions, inhibitions, and inferiority complexes due to the exercise of discipline and authority. These matters are discussed at normal schools, educational conferences, parent-teacher associations. Many pedagogical treatises thereon in books and magazines have appeared, and continue to appear. Enthusiastic educators have labored to expound and expand them. Some excellent people believe that these ideas are comparatively new, wholly true, and of the very greatest importance in educational theory.

The idea that education ought to be a pleasant and easy saunter along the flowery path of knowledge is certainly not a new one. Long ago it was necessary to explain that there is no royal road to geometry. In modern times Rousseau made strenuous efforts to pull down and destroy the standards of authority in politics and education. Sentiment rather than reason was to prevail, instincts and feelings were to be trusted in education rather than intellect, expression was to take precedence of repression. The inheritors of this cult bid us dilate our bosoms with admiration for a system in which free self-expression, a joyful expansion of the untrammeled spirit of childhood, and the claims of individuality are to displace the severe demands of intellectual and moral discipline. We are now gravely informed that the traditional education of the nineteenth century with the rigid courses of study, its emphasis upon the acquisition of academic knowledge, its insistence upon accuracy and thoroughness was but a deadening routine likely to reduce everyone to an undesirable uniformity in mind and morals. Of course, nothing of the kind occurred. The products of nineteenth century education were as varied as possible.

We are also told that no constraint should be allowed to hamper the individuality of children, but there is no need for alarm on this score. There is in children a practically universal instinct of imitation. If our educational reformers would observe and reflect upon the habit of worship, the prevalence of the gang spirit among the young, and the severe discipline they cheerfully submit to from other youngsters, they would realize that there is no spirit of individuality in the young which is being repressed by the cruelty of schoolmasters. Individuality is a plant that belongs to a later period of growth.

These educational idols of the theatre form much of the stock-in-trade of those who want to expand and "enrich" the course of study with additional subjects and lay additional burdens on the taxpayers. In hard times when retrenchment is forced upon us, we do not hear so much of these fallacious doctrines. When prosperity returns we may expect to hear of new and elastic programmes, sentimental pleas for unwilling or incompetent pupils, soft pedagogy, and in general the rose-strewn path of education, the royal road to geometry.

LAWN TENNIS SUPREMACY

There is good augury in the signs of revival in sporting prowess that are being evidenced in the British Empire. The latest illustration of this is the fact of two Empire players meeting in the final of the American Lawn Tennis Championship and they are the two who have now definitely earned the right of being called the first and second best players in the world for the current year. Jack Crawford of Australia has won the championship of his own country, of France, and he was the conqueror of Ellsworth Vines in the final at Wimbledon. His record is one that has rarely been equalled. Had he won at Forest Hills he would have accomplished an unprecedented feat. There, however, he met defeat from Frederick Perry, of England, and the defeat although the match went to five sets was in the end of a somewhat convincing character. These two players will be meeting again and it would be far from fair as yet to say which is the better exponent of the game. The probability is, however, that both at their best are equal in skill and in court strategy to any of their great predecessors in the game.

There was a time when Britain, and later Australia, reigned supreme in lawn tennis. During a long number of years, however, in which the Great War intervened and since then up to the present season neither country could quite overcome the challenges first of the United States, and then of France. This year, however, after twenty long, lean years, Britain has won the American singles championship, and Jack Crawford, of Australia, has won the three other main lawn tennis championships. That is a stirring record in this branch of sport.

THE GUESTS OF GOD

From the dust of the weary highway—
From the smart of sorrow's rod
Into the royal presence—

They are bidden as guests of God.

They are taken—
Sweet mysteries they are shown.
Their doubts and fears are over,
For they know they are known.

For them there should be rejoicing
And festive array—
At the bride in her beauty
Whom love hath taken away—
Sweet hours of peaceful waiting
Till the path that we have trod
Shall end at the Father's gateway
And we are the guests of God.

—Great Thoughts.

A friend—it is another name for God.
Whose love inspires all love, is all in all;
Profane it not, least lowest shame befall!
Nor think that my friend is truly thine.
Save as life's closest link with Love divine.
—Lucy Larcom.

CONCERT AT
YACHT CLUB

Commander C. Longstreth
Host at Good-Bye Gathering Saturday Night

Saturday night, members of the yachting fraternity were guests of Commander Charles Longstreth at a smoking concert in the Room
Victoria Yacht Club house, at Cadboro Bay. It was Commander Longstreth's way of saying goodbye for a few months to his many friends here.

The commander made an excellent host, providing an evening of good fellowship, which will not be forgotten for some time by those who were present. A fine programme of singing numbers and some clever legerdemain by local magicians helped the evening along.

Commander Longstreth, who is a member of the Royal Victoria
Yacht Club, the San Diego Yacht Club, the New York Yacht Club and the Philadelphia Corinthians, spent several months of every year in Victoria. He enjoys the new recreation, yachting, he maintains an attractive looking racing sloop, of the victory class, at Cadboro
Bay, but although he encourages racing, as witness his gift of the Longstreth Trophy for star class boats here, his boat has never been used in competition. Next Saturday afternoon is set apart on the official programme for the crews' races, and some spirited competition is looked for. The final races for the season will take place Saturday, September 23.

A yachtsman of thirty-five years'
standing, Commander Longstreth has owned twelve boats East and West. He is a retired United States naval officer, and is past commander of the Phoenix Yacht Club, Cor-dinians, and has held important offices in other clubs, of which he is a member. With Mrs. Longstreth, he resides at the Empress Hotel.

Pilchard Fishermen Not Reaping Great Harvest Off Coast

Fish Are Scarce and Keep Long Way Off Shore in Waters Dangerous to Boats and Their Crews

BANFIELD, Sept. 11.—A mass meeting of the pilchard fleet of the West Coast of Vancouver Island was held here last week and 125 men attended to discuss the critical situation. The United Fishermen of British Columbia conducted the meeting.

The chairman wished to make it very evident to the pilchard fishermen (90 per cent of whom are members of the union) that whatever happens the industry must go on. "Disregarding this year's situation, the industry must be kept going. We stand for fair rights, but failure must not ruin pilchard fishing on this Coast." Under the capable leadership of the British Columbia Fishermen's Union, the only chartered fishermen's union in British Columbia, this should be possible.

The serious problem before the meeting was whether it was advisable to continue waiting for the fish to come in towards this Coast or to proceed to Destruction Island, endangering lives and boats, or quit.

PILCHARD SCARCE

Contrary to misleading reports published, the fish are far from the Coast (an eight-hour run from Barkley Sound to Victoria) they are not scarce. They are thick. It is only with great difficulty a set is made. They are proceeding to this coast at twenty to forty miles per day. These reports are grossly untrue, and the rumors are causing undreamed-of distress and expense. From Victoria, from Vancouver on the strength of these stories, relief cut off from families in town because presumably the men are working. They haven't made their board.

"The fish don't need to come to the coast for food," said one setting the last of them, not the first. "The fish are exceptionally fat this year and are said by many to be the largest caught here in some years. This is the fact that is doing the mischief, however. The schools are very large and it takes some time to make a big enough catch to pay for even the fuel used."

By the time the fish reach the northern canneries, after rolling around for eighteen to twenty hours in the hold, they are far from being in good condition. There must be perfect weather conditions, a quick immediate departure for the cannery and immediate despatch there.

The cannery, as bad as a position as the men, are asking for fish.

Four Hurt When Car Overturned

NANAIMO, Sept. 11 (CP)—Mrs. Harold Lloyd, of Vancouver, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving to the common danger and driving without a driver's licence, and was fined $25 and $4 costs.

The charge arose out of an accident Saturday night when Mr. Lloyd, was driving upset near Quarterway and necessitated treatment at hospital here of Lloyd and his three companions, Florence and Rose Serrani and Lloyd Squires.

Mr. Langdon has established that the shear zone is nearly a mile in width, and cuts across the Brodgold holdings for a distance of three and one-half miles. This zone, he contends, extends for many miles beyond the ground which he was reporting upon, and upon which he spent many months.

AREA RECOMMENDED
The Department of Mines has recommended re-examination of the Hixon Creek area, which was one of the earliest lode gold locations to attract attention. The placers of Hixon Creek yielded a million dollars a mile for a distance of approximately seven miles in the early days, British Columbia mining, and continues to produce.

One small section of Hixon Creek, under the watchful eye of the prospector, is now being examined by the Hannabracik brothers, a syndicate backed by Seattle money. Mr. Langdon, who was in Victoria yesterday, said that in the ten days before he left Hixon Creek, this operation has recovered sixty ounces of gold. The gold is distinctly of low origin, having travelled any distance, showing trashed any distance, still adhering to it.

GOOD VALUES

The geology of the district shows the shear belt to be schistose-quartzite with numerous quartz veins and stringers cross-cutting it.

Amos Bowman, in 1886, reported that mining operations were continuing for some reason, now being operated by the Hannabracik brothers, a syndicate headed by William Clark, "The Progressive Imperial Co-operation."

Adjudged Hearing—The charge against E. A. Morris and Walter Hitchcock of conducting a scheme by which certain tickets might win prizes with Herbert Pearce and was given one month in jail by Magistrate Jay yesterday. The record of the accused was an exceptionally lengthy one. Regina, Nelson, Vancouver and Victoria were all included as the scenes of stealing, vagrancy and intoxication convictions against him.

Question of Policy—Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, who returned yesterday from a visit to the Matsqui dyking project, said that the difficulties of farmers in that area were real and typical of the plight of all those who held land under the same conditions. There could be no piece-meal solution of the problem, but the whole situation would have to be canvassed and some remedy devised. The first thing the informant was to put a stop to further expenditure of public money on land schemes that had little or no chance of success.

Advice Settler—In the city police court yesterday, a young man was charged by his mother with having destroyed a picture belonging to the informant. The

Autumn Modes Shown by Hudson's Bay Company

Fashion Show to Be Presented Each Evening in Automobile Building—Lovely Styles Attract Big Crowd of Admirers

A record crowd attended the first night of the Hudson's Bay Company fashion show last evening in the Automobile Building at the Exhibition, and all spectators were delighted with their first glimpse of the Autumn modes.

An elaborate stage of modernistic design was erected in one end of the building, and affords a splendid view of the models as they appear from behind a handsome brown velvet curtain, which affords a striking background for the clothes.

The popular colors this season are raspberry, light green, vintage red, tan, grey, white, cream, black, and a equal favorites. Satin in everywhere in evidence, and fur treatment of the shoulders and sleeves is one of the noticeable features of this Autumn's styles.

CHARMING MANNEQUINS

Sport suits, dresses for afternoon, evening gowns, dress coats, evening wraps, and fur coats were shown by Miss Craig, Miss McManus, Miss Pearson, Miss Pennock, Miss Holmes and Mrs. Rattenbury, who appeared in this order, and the final tableau was greeted with enthusiastic applause.

Carbuncle shaped hats seemed to be leaders of fashion, and crown hats, certain to take an upward trend, and some are aptly termed "sky-scrapers." They are folded and pinched into points and pleats, all tending to give the impression of the fullness of the afternoon frocks; the wider brims and distinct feminity and give a somewhat alluring line. Several charming swagger suits were shown in the first group

One-Child Mothers Not Eligible for Pensions

Local Council of Women, at First Post-Holiday Meeting, Discusses Matters of Varied Interest
—New Affiliations Are Welcomed

The basis of the Mothers' Pension Act is the indigency of the mother and existence of the condition, without governmental assistance, with this in mind the Workmen's Compensation Board does not favor the granting of the mothers' pension to women with only one child when the mother is physically able to support the child. It is under forty years of age, where the child is of school age and healthy, and not requiring the constant personal care of the mother.

Mrs. C. C. Spofford, a committee of the law's committee of the Local Council of Women, yesterday gave this summary to the Local Council of Women at the first meeting since the Summer holidays. The session was attended by about forty-five representatives of affiliated societies. Mrs. Spofford presided and welcomed representatives of the recently affiliated Conservative Women's Club, the Liberal Women's Forum, and the Soroptimist Club.

RELIEF COMFORTS

Mrs. A. C. Rose, Mrs. McManus, and Bertha Parsons were named a committee of three to inquire, in response to an inquiry from the National Council, as to whether there was any need locally for a comfort fund to supplement the contributions supplied by the Government to relief camps.

Women's Building Packed; Hundreds Inspect Exhibits

All Branches of Household Arts Shown at Exhibition—Displays Add to Interest—Doll Contest Popular—Linen Weaving Demonstrated

WERE the Women's Building the only unit in the Provincial Exhibition this year, it would be well worth a trip to the Willows and a visit to the building. It is most attractively arranged, and even the eye of the casual visitor can notice the increase in number of entries. But that is not all. The quality, too, is much higher than last year, and it would take the eye of an expert to pick the winners from the tempting rows of jams, jellies, bottled fruits and vegetables, cakes, pies, bread and sweetmeats.

Mrs. D. Gordon, the judge of the cooking section, was surrounded by an eager gathering of women yesterday, all anxious to hear her remarks while she was judging, tasting this, and tasting that, and finally placing the coveted cup on the first prize-winning entry. Mrs. E. Darcus is director of the Women's Building. The bottled fruits and a fine array of rabbit, venison, chicken, etc., neatly arranged in jars, are worthy of mention, and the decorated cakes are true works of art.

There is a very fine line-up number of entries in the needlework section, and the knitting craze which has swept the country, has produced some beautiful garments. It is encouraging to see that the British Columbia wool is of most finer quality, and the department of colors is delightful. One woolen jumper in this section has an intricate fair Isle pattern most beautifully worked.

AGED LADIES' WORK

As in former years, the ladies of more than seventy years of age have contributed a number of interesting pieces, varying from rag rugs to the most exquisite knitting and crocheting. It is not for the eye above this exhibit which informs the public that it is the work of ladies more than three-score years and ten, one would not hesitate to class it among the entries sent by young women.

While the plain needlework is essential, the embroidery and rather lack in becoming materials and color, there is some good stitching, and the garden aprons are among the most noteworthy garments in this section. A piece of burlap and a few bits of colored wools, and the patchwork quilt is a creation that is really practical, and with this quality combine in very marked degree the beautiful.

ATTRACT ATTENTION

Each year the rugs, which are so popular for Colonial rooms, are becoming more and more charming, and there are some braided wool rugs and hooked rugs, and rather lack in becoming materials and color, there is some good stitching, and the garden aprons are among the most noteworthy garments in this section. A piece of burlap and a few bits of colored wools, and the patchwork quilt is a creation that is really practical, and with this quality combine in very marked degree the beautiful.

The patchwork quilts of our grandmothers' days are being revived, and some good examples are in the exhibition.

In the novelties and handicrafts section there are some original pieces, wool pictures, elaborate cushions, baskets, and many fascinating things made from crepe paper.

The thrift class has a strong entry, and women display the greatest ingenuity in making the greatest economy in making use of old and utilizing every good scrap of material.

WORK OF BLIND

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind has an interesting exhibit, and Mr. A. Crocker's work excellent. Baskets of all kinds, trunks, leather work, etc., are included in the collection, which are made by the blind, and are both upon the blind, who make the articles, and upon their instructors, who give so many hours in guiding the fingers which must now work in the dark. Next to this exhibit is the most outstanding demonstration in the exhibition.

A pair of embroidered towels, the patchwork quilt will attract the attention of all, and the aitemental quilt, which is distinctly attractive, The lace was grown on the Experimental Farm at Agassiz.

WOOL DISPLAY

Mrs. Simmonds has charge of an interesting wool display, and has collected some unusual spinning wheels, which include a Hebridean wheel over 200 years old, and a Shetland spinner over 150 years old, an Icelandic wheel, an old spinning Jenny with a distaff and a Scandinavian wheel, which was made by St. Saviour's Church, last night at 8 o'clock, when Rev. H. St. John Payne performed the marriage rites for Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hawes, Renfrew Avenue, and Mr. Stanley Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cross, Chamber Street. For the occasion, an assortment of summer flowers and greenery had been effectively arranged in the church.

The bride, who were in charge of the wedding, a demonstration of spinning, weaving, and spinning linen is being given upstairs in the Women's Building, under the direction of Mrs. C. G. Clarke, of Foul Bay. The great banks of long, silken, glossy, are the inner fibres of the flag stems, and these are spun into thread and woven into a little hand loom. The result is a somewhat coarse cloth, but, which is distinctly attractive. The lace was grown on the Experimental Farm at Agassiz.

CROSS—HAWES

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Saviour's Church, last night at 8 o'clock, when Rev. H. St. John Payne performed the marriage rites for Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hawes, Renfrew Avenue, and Mr. Stanley Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cross,

WOOL DISPLAY

Mrs. Simmonds has charge of an interesting wool display, and has collected some unusual spinning wheels, which include a Hebridean wheel over 200 years old, and a Shetland spinner over 150 years old, an Icelandic wheel, an old spinning Jenny with a distaff and a Scandinavian wheel, which was made by St. Saviour's Church, last night at 8 o'clock, when Rev. H. St. John Payne performed the marriage rites for Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hawes, Renfrew Avenue, and Mr. Stanley Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cross, Chamber Street. For the occasion, an assortment of summer flowers and greenery had been effectively arranged in the church.

The bride, who were in charge of the wedding, a demonstration of spinning, weaving, and spinning linen is being given upstairs in the Women's Building, under the direction of Mrs. C. G. Clarke, of Foul Bay. The great banks of long, silken, glossy, are the inner fibres of the flag stems, and these are spun into thread and woven into a little hand loom. The result is a somewhat coarse cloth, but, which is distinctly attractive. The lace was grown on the Experimental Farm at Agassiz.

Fred Perry Captures U.S. Men's Singles Tennis Title From Crawford

Englishman Takes Australian After Five-Set Struggle

Succeeds Vines as Champion by Winning From Jack Crawford, 6-3, 11-13, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1—First English-Born in Thirty Years to Cop Title—Big Crowd Attends FOREST HILLS, N.Y. Sept. 11.—With a sudden, dynamic surge that swept everything before him and broke up an otherwise dramatically close battle for points, dark-haired, twenty-four-year-old Frederick J. Perry, England, whipped the great Jack Crawford, Australia, in five sets Sunday for the tennis championship of the United States.

Lured by a capacity crowd which the Perry strike with the speed and power of a cobra in the last two sets, the British Davis Cup here came from behind after losing two heart-crushing set duels, to win by scores of 6-3, 11-13, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.

Proving himself one of the greatest match players in modern tennis history, Perry smashed Crawford's 1933 winning streak when the minister of sports was almost within sight of achieving the unprecedented "gram slam" of tennis. Crawford previously had captured the Australians, French and Wimbledon singles.

DUPLEXES FEAT

The lithe, slim youth from the Old Country became the first Englishman in thirty years to capture the most coveted title of American tennis. After Tuesday, through the efforts of his Australian rival, he will be the only man within sight of achieving the unprecedented "gram slam" of tennis. Crawford previously had captured the Australians, French and Wimbledon singles.

HIGHLY DRAMATIC

The two, Perry and Crawford, were distinctly the players of the year and the class of the tournament which the Americans had succeeded in, Tuesday, through the defeat of Frank Shields and Lester Stoenes in the semi-finals. For three sets they waged a close and frequently exciting contest for points, in which the fortunes shifted with highly dramatic swiftness.

In the long and bitterly fought second set, the "breaks" finally went to Crawford and the Australian held his nerve, while also taking the third set with a masterful display of tactics. There were dramatic moments that favored him in each of these sets, just when it seemed as though Perry, the regisseur throughout, was about to complete his command of the match.

In the twenty-second game of the second set, Perry was within two points of breaking on to have two破了 Crawford rally, behind a series of forcing shots to save his service.

In the twenty-third game, Perry led 40-30 as Crawford whirled to make a spectacular return of a difficult shot behind the baseline. As he completed the stroke, Crawford applied his brakes, but had done so far, before the linesman apparently expecting the call "out." Perry was at the net, his racket poised for a "killing" return, only to plot the ball into the net.

LOSES CONTROL

Losing his poise and control for the first time, the Briton double-vaulted, lost his service and "blew" the twenty-fourth game with wild returns, enabling Crawford to secure the match and forge ahead with more confidence.

Another unusual incident marked Perry's loss of the third set. Games were four-all at the time. Perry trailed 30-40 as Crawford drove a looping shot toward the baseline. Perry stood poised for the return, then changed his mind, let the ball go and hit it toward the linesman, apparently expecting the call "out." Instead the linesman signified the shot was good. It gave the gam to Crawford who quickly capitalized the "break" by winning his own service in the tenth game.

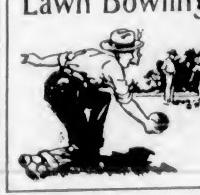

AUSTRIALIAN TIRES

Something happened to both players between sets, however. Perry came back like the proverbial raging bull to sweep everything before him in the lightning set, with Crawford, despite a commanding lead, tired and had his defense shot to pieces. The Anzac, whether or not his twice-twisted left knee troubled him, obviously lacked the stamina for the full route. His famous hawk-hand, which had been under severe pressure during the first set, cracked and his service, too, fell apart.

A strong, gusty wind whipped through the stadium most of the afternoon, often playing tricks with shots and partially accounting for an unusual number of double-faults. They piled up twenty-three double-

SIMMONS DROPS FROM BIG SIX

White Sox Member Loses Place in Select Hall Does Batmen —Manush Gains

Straight Tickets—Hub Petty, Lou Marc and Ko Ko Return Double-Figured Win Prices
—Daily Double Is Worth $49.85

Favorites found the going dismal yesterday at the Willows track on the second day of the final British Columbia race meeting and the two most popular horses in front. Accented odds were long, and those who managed to pick the winners did not need any assistance from the N.R.A. to get home. Ideal weather again favored, and the fast track produced some splendid times.

Finishes yesterday were decisive, and the winners mostly had plenty of daylight to cover them in the rest of the field. Four of the first horses returned double figures, the longest being by the veteran Coeur de Lion in the sixth. His tickets were worth $53.70, $16.30, $10.35, and $1.20. The locally-bred Hub Petty, Lou Marc and Ko Ko were the others to return double figured win prices. Place and show returns were usually good. The daily double was worth $49.85, and the one-two bet $39.80.

DIFFERENCES SETTLED

There were some differences between the association and horse owners yesterday, and for the time being it looked as if the races might be terminated for at least a day, but matters were smoothed over to the satisfaction of everyone and it was decided in addition to the regular purases to stage some handicaps later this week.

Daniels and Pendergrast led the riders each bringing home two, while Cannon, Chipping and Cochlin won up on the other winners.

In the opening race, Architect was second after closing with a burst of speed in the home stretch. Jack Ellsworth nosed out Judge Austin in taking the show berths.

Daniels up won the second race over five and one-half furlongs with ridiculous ease. Kate A. was second and Golden Colina third. The winner was rushed from the front barrier, opened up a good lead and lengthened at will to win by a length and a half. Kate A. held her position steadily to take second place. Gaberine, the favorite, showed speed for a half, but folded up. Golden Colina gained ground steadily.

LOU MARC SCORES

Going on top at the rail at the start, Lou Marc made every post a success, coming in second in the first race and winning the fourth event. Cloister's Dream was second and Swift Cop third. Bright Hopes was rushed to the front in the early racing and gradually drew away. Cloister's Dream was always closing up, while Swift Cop, the saddle on Gaberine, Giff, who was running well up with the leader on the first turn, slipped, and the horse began to bleed. Jockey Loring had him stopped.

MAKES SHOW OF FIELD

Ko Ko made a show of his field in taking the fifth race by about eight lengths. Maryland was second, two lengths in front of Royal Mate, who finished third. Ko Ko took the lead on the back stretch on the second time around and won by a rider pleased. Royal Mate set the pace for a half. The favorite, Maryland, was a contender until Ko Ko took command.

Stock and Bond Prices Advance At Wall Street

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Stocks and commodities advanced in more active trading today, thus closing off from the slow down swing that had characterized last week's markets.

Fresh inspiration for the rise was given by a revival of inflationary sentiment. Stocks closed with gains of 1 to around 5 points, while cotton was up a dollar or slightly more per bushel.

Sales totaled 1,910,000 shares.

American Woolen, Gates, Johnson, Manville and Delaware & Hudson improved approximately 5 points. Chrysler, enjoying strong sponsorship, gained 5 3/4 net and reached new high ground for the year. General Motors' advance was nearly 2.

Among the "wets" which came back to active favor presumably on expectations that this week's balloting would add to the list of repeal states, National Distillers sprinted 10 points, U.S. Industrial Alcohol 8 and American Commercial 4.

Secondary issues moved up rather briskly in the bond market today, apparently reflecting the upturn in stocks. The average for 90 domestic corporate bonds advanced 3-10 of a point, while the average gain in the composite since Aug. 1.

Lower-priced rails rallied 1 to 2 or more points including some lags of Alleghany Corp., Baltimore & Ohio, Central Pacific, Chesapeake Corp., St. Paul, Chicago & North Western.

Gainers in the utility and industrial groups included American & Foreign Power, 5s, up 3 3/8; Goodyear, 5s, up 1 1/4; Goodrich, 6s, up 1 3/8.

WHEN WORLDS COLLIDE

By Edwin Balmer & Philip Wyllie

CHAPTER VIII
Eve awaited Tony in a garden surrounded by trees. In the air was the scent of blossoms, the fragrance of the forest, the song of birds.

She was in white, with her shoulders and arms bare, her slender body sheathed close in silk. All feminine, she was too feminine, too frail, too delicate for the task she set for herself. Would she succeed better at it if she had garbed herself like a nun?

An airplane dived in the twilight sky and dropped to its cleared and clipped landing field. Eve arose from the bench beside the little pool. She trembled, impatient; she had not yet sat down again. Here he came at last and alone, as she hoped.

"Hello, Tony!" she tried to make it cool.

"Eve, my dear!"
"We mustn't say even that! No don't kiss me or hold me so!"

"Why? ... I know your father said not to. It's discipline of the League of the Last Days. But why? Why must they ask it? And when must you do it?"

"There now, Tony. I'll try to explain to you. Let's sit here side by side—but not your arm around me. I want it so much. I can't have it. That's why, don't see?"

"Tony's a very solemn time. Tony's a lot of today doing nice things. I got to go to reading the Book of Daniel again—especially Belshazzar's feast."

"Daniel, you may remember, interpreted the writing on the wall. 'Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin. God hath numbered thy kingdom and finished it.' Thou art weighed in the balance and art found wanting. And in the night was Belshazzar, King of the Chaldeans, slain."

"It is something very like that which is happening to us now, Tony; only the Finger, instead of writing again on the wall, this time has taken to writing in the sky—over Earth and over the stars. Tony has traced two little streaks in the sky—two objects moving towards us, where nothing ought to move; and the message of one of them is perfectly plain.

"What is your idea, then?"
"It's sent to save, perhaps, some of the results of five hundred million years of life on this world; but not you and I, Tony."

"Why not? Who are we?"

Eve smiled faintly. "We're some of the results, of course. As much as we go, we cease to be ourselves. If we go, we cease to be ourselves, don't you see?"

"Thou art weighed in the balances and found wanting," that one says to all the world. "God has numbered thy kingdom and it is great."

"But what does the other streak say?"

"That is the strange one, Tony; that is the aftermath of God—the chance He is sending us!"

"Remember how the Old Testament showed God to us stern and judgmental, and then the wickedness of man in the earth greater still?"

"It said: 'And it repented the Lord that he had made man on the earth. And the Lord said, I will destroy man whom I have created, from the face of the earth; both man, and beast and creeping things, and the fowl of the air; for if I repeat myself that I have sinned, and God thought it over and softened a little; and He warned Noah to build the ark to save himself and some of the beasts, so that they could start all over again."

"Well, Tony, it seems to me the second streak in the sky says that God is doing the same thing once more. He hasn't changed nature since Genesis; not in that short time. Why should He? It seemed to me, Tony. He looked us all over again and got disgusted.

"Evolution, you know, has gone on with this world for maybe five hundred million years. Tony, we saw God thought that, if all we'd reached in all that time was what we have now, He'd wipe us off forever. So He started that streak to begin with."

"Exactly what do you mean by that, Eve?"

"I mean, that marriage on Bronson Beta—if we do not possibly be what it is here especially if only a few, a very few of us reach it. It will be all-important then—it will be essential to take whatever action the circumstances may require to establish the race."

"You mean," said Tony savagely, "that we're being born at breakfast. If that flies from South Africa—Ramsell also made the passage on that Space Ship, and we all live, I may have to give you up to him—when circumstances seem to require it?"

"I don't know, Tony. We can't possibly describe it now; we can't imagine the circumstances when we're starting all over again. But one thing we can know—we must not first fix relations between us here which may only give trouble."

"Relations like love and marriage?"

"They might not do at all, over there."

"You're mad, Eve. Your father's been talking to you."

"Of course he has; but there's only sanity in what he says. He has thought so much more about it, he can look so calmly beyond the end of the world to what may be next—that the world won't have to carry into the next world sentiments and attachments that may only bring us trouble and cause quarrels or rivalry and death. How frightful to fight and kill each other on that empty world! So we have to start fighting ourselves from such things here."

"I'll be no freer pretending I don't want you more than anything else. What sort of thing does your father say for us—or Bronson Beta?"

She evaded him. "Why bother about it, Tony, when there's ten thousand chances to one we'll never get there? But we'll try for it—won't we?"

"I certainly will, if you're going to."

"Then you'll have to submit to the discipline."

His arms hungered for her, and his lips ached for hers, but he turned away.

Inside the house, he found her father, Cole Hendron. "Glad to see you, Tony. We're going ahead with our plans. I suppose you knew I had been count on it."

"For what?" Tony inquired brusquely.

"For one of my crew. You've the health and the mind and the nerve, I think. It's going to take more courage, in the end, than staying here on the world. For we all leave—we will shoo ourselves up into the sky while the world still goes on. We leave, of course, before the end, and the end of the world will never be really believed till it comes. So I need men of your steadiness and quality. Can I count on you?"

Tony looked him over. "You can count on me, Mr. Hendron."

"Good. I'm glad to hear that. Eve has acquainted you with some features of the discipline of the league. I will tell you, in proper time, of others; nothing will be asked of you which will not be actually reasonable and necessary. But I should advise you to learn something useful. Investment experience, for example, in trade. There scarcely be an asset on Bronson Beta, whereas knowledge of agricultural and proficiency in manual arts and elementary mechanics may be invaluable. You have time to learn the simple, primary processes by which the world is made. You will have, I might add, approximately two years to prepare, before affairs here become acute with the approach of the planets on their first passage."

No record could picture a thousandth part of the changes that came in those two years. No single aspect or human enterprise was left undisturbed.

What Today Means

VIRGO

If September 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 to 9:15 a.m., from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. and from 3:45 to 5 p.m. The dangerous periods are from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 4:15 to 6 p.m., and from 6 to 6:40 p.m.

Influences operating on this date will tend to make you act impulsively and with a total disregard of logic or reason; a mistake today will not be easily rectified. People generally will not mix well on this date, and the contact will be sharp and unresponsive.

The engagement between lovers consummated today will stand a good chance of being broken before reaching the altar.

The child born on this date will be born with a strong physique and all probability will cause much embarrassment to his parents by his frequent artless remarks. The child will probably look for a good deal of attention, particularly from
